Baby Movie Star
Appears In Person
At Uptown Theatre

Arthur James Maskrey, one of the baby stars who is under contract with Jack Hays Educational Pictures, has recently made his personal appearance with the picture, "Kid in Hollywood," taking the part as Director Von Stumblebum, one of the six series produced and released through Fox.

This clever little actor has come to the limelight through a series of productions, some of which have been "Polly Tix in Washington," "War Babies," "Kid in Hollywood," "Kids Last Fight," and others, all Jack Hays productions. Mr. Hays is now preparing his second series of pictures in which Arthur James will take a leading part for the heavy.

He has received his training at the "Baby Stars Studio," 10025 Culver boulevard, Culver City, from which all the children for this series of productions are selected.

"Wild Boys of the Road" At the Torrance Tuesday and Wednesday

From riches to rags—that's the career of Dorothy Coonan, who, instead of rising to stardom wearing silks and satins, climbed the ladder of success attired in the rags of a hobo. At the right above she is shown as she appeared in the "Gold Diggers of 1933," and at the left as she appears as a "Hobo Girl" in her latest success, "Wild Boys of the Road," which comes to the Torrance Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, October 31 and November 1.

DeLuxe Stage
Show Tonight and Tomorrow

Again on Tuesday and Wednesday, the Torrance Theatre, according to its established policy, presents a deluxe stage show in conjunction with a splendid picture program.

"Black Beauty"
Coming Saturday
to Fox Redondo

Romance, pathos and strong human interest are the high points in "Black Beauty," which will be shown at the children's matinee only on Saturday at the Fox Redondo Theatre. Built around one of the most appealing subjects in the world, the love between man and horse, this pictureization of the famous novel by Anna Sewell is the kind of an offering that tugs at the heartstrings. It is a picture every child will long remember.

Patrons of the Torrance Theatre are beginning to realize that the quality of these stage attractions are of the finest available talent, coming direct to the Torrance Theatre from the leading theatres downtown and principal theatres of the country.

The show coming this week comprises a great variety of entertainment. Heading the program is the Singer comedy quartet, an aggregation of voices such as seldom heard in harmony songs, coupled with comedy antics that are highly amusing. Also on the program are the Roundas Duo, a European novelty bicycle act that is also a comedy hit, featuring daring bicycle tricks and musical bits. Famous all over the world for his old man characterizations is Phil Rich, direct from the RKO Theatre. With him is his pretty partner, Miss Adair. Phil's comedy is of the kind that makes it a never-to-be-forgotten act. The McIntyres make this an all-comedy program. The show is laughs from start to finish and one every member of the family will enjoy.

Why say you can't afford it? When your house is burning down would you hesitate to put a nickel into the pay station to get the fire department?

Beer Sales Drop
During September

SACRAMENTO—Beer drinking in California, during September, was not as heavy as in August, the state board of equalization announced today.

A total tax of $71,260 was collected by the state in September, representing sales of 3,563,006 gallons. In August a total of 3,897,185 gallons was distributed, with a tax of $77,942.

Eighteen California breweries produced 91 per cent of total distributions in the state, the board report showed.

"Gold Diggers of 1933"

Warner Brothers super musical production, which has been breaking box office attendance records wherever it has been shown, comes to the Torrance Theatre for a three-day run starting tonight, and continuing Friday and Saturday. Above is shown Joan Blondell indulging in one of her "Gold Digger" moods with Guy Kibbee, the indulgent victim.

Exceptional Program For the Week Outlined At Show House in Hawthorne

Dances and ensembles for Warner Bros. musical and dramatic spectacle, "Gold Diggers of 1933," which will be shown Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 1, 2 and 3, at the Plaza Theatre, are said to be the most lavish and ornate ever produced in a talking motion picture.

Two hundred girls in silken helical skirts dance on a helical stairway in the exquisite "Shadow Waltz" number. During the dance, the girls play upon illuminated violins, winding around the giant stairway, whirling about a glistening pool and an equally glistening floor. It is a triumph of rhythm, color and beauty.

For the "Pettin' in the Park" number, an entire park with benches, mounds, trees of spun glass and silk, and a background of fantastic shapes and forms was constructed. The number itself is fast and zippy, boys and girls together, and like nothing ever seen before.

For "The Forgotten Man" number, the girls romp over gigantic tread mills on which they keep ever going but never arriving. A background of silver coins as large as the procusium arch of a theatre, silver coins for whines and silver coins for costumes for the elaborate setting for "We're In the Money," another of the unusual numbers in this unusual picture.

These dances and ensembles were created by Busby Berkeley, with songs by Warren and Dublins, who wrote the hit music in "42nd Street." The production itself is based on Avery Hopwood's play, and carries an all star cast, including Warren, William, Joan Blondell, Aline MacMahon, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks and Ginger Rogers. Mervyn LeRoy directed.

You'll hear the old Scoffers Brigade saying that the recovery drive can't work, but the fellow who tries to belittle a movement like this is like the man who stands by a sinking steamer in his yacht and criticizes the way the sailors are handling the lifeboats.
